HUSBAND LEAVES WIFE DESTITUTE

R. E. Allen, of 608 South Pine Street, Deserts Bride of Six Weeks.

LETTER SAYING GOOD-BYE

Mrs. Allen Being Cared For By Her Friend, Mrs. Luchenburg.

Clasping his arms around his bride of six weeks and kissing her with a burst of affection that he had not shown for some time, Russell Edward Alten lef his wife Wednesday afternoon to return no more. He said that he was only going out on a small errand, and the young wife, thinking nothing of it, did not note his absence until the hours length ened on into the night and no sign or word of his whereabouts came to her As the night were away Mrs. Allen became prostrated with anxiety and nervous apprehension, Nothing was heard of the renegade husband until the follow-ing morning, when M ing morning, when Mrs. Allen received the following letter, which bids her farewell without assigning any explanation: Richmond, Va., March 28, 1906.

To Maggie;
I leave richmond To-day, an I do not know where I am going to stop. I cannot give you an further information, as it seems impossighle for us to tion, as it seems impossigible for us to get along as we should. I leave it all to your and am sorry things have turned out as they have. Miss Virgie still has $25 and that is for you, hopping that you will always get along all right and please do not worry about me. Good-bye.

Had No Quarrel.

Had No Quarrel.

Mrs. Allen was seen list night at the home of her friend, Mrs. Luchenburg, 98 South Pine street, with whom she lived before her marriage. She was asked if she knew of any possible reason, but she only shook her head in the deepest dejection. She said that their married life had been perfectly happy, and that no quarrel had ever inten place between them. But she had previously said to Mrs. Pickels! with whom she and her husband boarded, that her husband had grown very cold in he attitude towerl her. Intimating that his early affection was rapidly waning. From his letter, and his wife's story. It would seem that Allen hard simply fred of his young bride and had taken the quickest means of ridding himself of her.

Allen came to this city from Anne. Arundel county, Maryland, eighteen months ago, taking a position as cierk with M. Pickel, who runs a grocery store at 608 South Pine street. At the time of his arrival, and for some time after, allen was in correspondence with some girl at his home, but meeting his wife, then Miss Maggie Boulohnile, about Christians, he transferred his affections to the latter and the courtship went rapidly on until they were married by Dr. Smith, of the Second Bantist church, on February 14th. The couple went to live with Mr. Pickels, who still employed Allen as his clerk and they seemed to live with Mr. Pickels, who still employed Allen as his clerk and they seemed to live went handly logether, until the beginning of the cetrangement of Allen from his wife.

Took All His Belongings.

In some mysterious fashion Allen gathered together all his belongings and had them put out of the house without any one's ever knowing anything of it. He took all the available money, all his cothes, his photographs, leaving nothing to his wife but the $5 owing to him from Mrs. Luckenburg. Mrs. Allen has no idea where he has gone, and thinks certainly not to his home, as he had often remarked to her that he never wanted to live there again.

where he has gone, and thinks certainly not to his home, as he had often remarked to her that he never wanted to her there again.

Mr. Pickel speaks very highly of him, saying that he was orderly and well-behaved, and a most efficient elerk.

Mrs. Allen is entirely destitute, an orphan and homeless, Before her marrings she made her home with Mrs. Luchenburg, who has again taken the poor woman into her home, and is befriending her in her hour of need. She has a brother living in Petersburg and a sister in Chesterfield county, neither of whom know anything of her plight. She has no idea as to what her plans will be, and is apparently assured that her husband will never return to her. She will centrine with Mrs. Lachenburg until some definite arrangements are made.

Mrs. Allen is a woman of about twenty-live, and is a year and five months older than her husband, Allen is described as being five feet and six inches in height, with dark half, gray eyes, of a slight build, and when last seen wore a black suit. He han a front gold-filled tooth.

EFFORTS MADE TO CHECK SMALLPOX

Dr. Oppenhimer Says Type is Very Mild, and Danger is Slight.

Considerable complaint has been made throughout the city lately on account of the increasing number of smallpox patients who run at large on the public treets, with great danger of spreading the dread disease.

Four patients in almost as many days are known to have been mingling with the populace indiscriminately. Yesterday morning The Times-Dispatch printed a story of a negro with the pox sores large upon him, entering the Second Station. A few days before a negro was caught red-handed with the disease full-fielded upon him at Eleventh and Main Streets in broad daylight. These and other such happenings which hive become almost daily matter in Richmond have aroused much uneadness.

When seen last night, Dr. William T. Oppenhimer, president of the board of health of this city, made statements, which will doubtless quiet the fears of those who live in dread of infection.

"In the first place, the smallpox is her is really a very mild form," he said, and not so much to be feared. Why, at the pest-house, we have not yet had a really serious case. Eyen the negroes whom, it is said, went about with the Four natients in almost as many day

Dr. M. D. Hoge, a member of the Board of Health, was also seen, and he repeated the facts of Dr. Oppenhelmer.

"Talk about vaccination, I, have just finished superintending the vaccination of 12,000 school children," he added. "Besides this, we have caused every negro in infected localities to be vaccinated, and the work is going on all the time. It is something that we cannot prevent, but when it occurs, we always see to it that they are trailed and their path districted. The public can be assured of that and there is really no cause for this widespread scare."

Planning a Hebrew State.

One of the most striking features of the Sunday Times-Dispatch will be a symposium on Israel Zangwill's territorial proposition, which is attracting widespread attention. The article, which will be widely read, has been prepared by Mr. Zangwill, and, in addition to a brief expression of his views, gives letters received by him from leading men of thought in all parts of the world.

Thus this very interesting subject of a Hebrew State is discussed from many points of view. The importance of the subject and the prominence of the men who discuss it combine to make this one of the strongest features ever printed by a newspaper. The article will be illustrated with eighteen photographs.

The contributions, in addition to Mr. Zangwill, are:

He intimated that unfair reports frequently went out, and that members were held up to the public in the wrong light. Mr. Duke said requests had been made of representatives of the press to leave out certain things, and that the next day full detailed reports appeared. He called attention to the fact that the press had published the assessments upon candidates before the report, was made to the full committee, and that papers had discounted the report of the rules committee. He did not think this was right. He spoke of alleged sensational stories about the committee, and said that this matter should be remedled.

Amendment Wins:

Mr. Welsh asked Mr. Duke if he thought the presence of Democratic newspaper men in the meetings for the past ten years had worked to the detriment of the party. Not only so," was the reply, "but the newspapers themselves have worked to the detriment of the party in that time."

The amendment offerred by Dr. Carrington was adopted—Ayes, 13; Noes, 12; and the section as amended was fidopted. Dr. West moved to pass by the further censideration of the entire report, but this was finally withdrawn.

The recorded vote on Dr. Carrington's amendment which practically restores the old language was as follows:

Spicy Paper.

In presenting the report of the rules committee, Colonel Boykin rend the fol-lowing paper, signed by himself and his colleagues;

Your Committee on Rules in submitting the eaccompanying draft of the by-laws and rules for the government of the City Democratic Committee, desire in and rules for the government of the City Demogratic Committee, desire in this paper to set forth some of the reasons actuating it in reference to the attendance upon its meetings of the representatives of the press.

This question has for many years been a debatable one in the minds of the members, both sides having its strong advocates.

It would be well, perhaps, in the outset of this discussion to remind our members of the very nature and character of this organization, the reason for its existence, the purpose and scope of its work, its duties and its responsibilities. We are assembled here as the accredited representatives of a political division of our citizenship—namely, those only who acknowledge allegiance to the Democratic party. We are not here as the representatives of citizens, however numerous, respectable or influential, of any other political fath or affiliation. We are sent here, presumably, by Democrats only, to represent them in maintaining in this city, by our counset and plans, the surprenage of the Democratic party, and to to represent them in maintaining in this city, by our counset and plans, the supremacy of the Democratic party, and to conserve and perpetuate its principles, believing that in so doing we give to our city a clean, honest and capable administration of its affairs. We were elected for this purpose, for this purpose our primaries are held, and all our deliberations and work have this end in view, and there is absolutely no other reason for our existence as a body. Those of us, if any there he, who cannot consistently act in full consonance and accord with this purpose, are certainly out of place on this committee.

Erroneous Impression.

Erroneous Impression.

The fact that the majority of our citizons are Domocrats, and consequently, in the election of this committee, the large proportion of the voters participate, is responsible for the erroneous impression in the minds of many that we are directly responsible to the general public as a whole for our actions, and that our proceedings and records are, as a matter of right, public property and subject to the serutiny and approval or disapproval of any and every one.

We stremuously insist that our organization is strictly a party one. We occupy the position of a board of strategy for our party, and is it to be presumed that matters of a strict party nature and essential to its maintenance should be published broadcak; to the world? That there is not occasion for as much secrecy in the conduct of its affairs as in years past does not after the principle for which The fact that the majority of our cit we contend. The City Democratic Comwe contend. The City Democratic Committee does not desire to withold, even from the general public, anything which is purely a matter of news, or which it has any right to know. To our Democratic constituents we are alone responsible, and to them the fullest information of our affairs is always accorded, and from them nothing is or will be withheld.

As a Matter of Right.

The by-laws of the old committee in regard to meetings, reads as follows:
"No one save members of the committee and Democratic newspaper reporters shall attend any meeting of the committee, except that other citizens may be admitted by a majority vote of the members present."

Under this reading any reporter of a Democratic newspaper can attend its

Under this reading any reporter of a Democratic newspaper can attend its meetings as a matter of right. As far as attendance goes, he has every right that any member of this committee has and, no matter what may be the desire or necessity for his absence, he can insist upon his right and you have no power under your by-laws to exclude him. Your Committee on Rules, realizing this fact, has eliminated the words which confer this right of attendance upon reporters, and have left to those individualis the saire opportunity of attendance which is accorded other cititendance which is accorded other citi-zens—by a majority vote of the commit-ted—a matter of courtesy and privilege

As Well Invite Public.

As Well Invite Public.

In this connection attention is called to the provisions of our by-laws for years past in reference to the duties of the sergennts-at-arms (section 8 of article 5): "He shall keep out all letruders of persons not entitled to be at meetings, and see that all doors and entruces are property closed during the session of the committee." May we ask what possible reason can there be for this provision if all of our proceedings are to be published in the public prints?

If publicity is desirable, it were better that our meetings should be freely open to the general public, that thereby they may themselves learn of our actions from observation and hearing rather than have to depend upon reports containing a medicum of truth, on which is builded a pyramid of conjecture and imagination, colored according to the partisan bias of the individual writing same, and pandering to the perniclous taste for sensadering to the permissions taste for sensa-tionalism which is being daily fostered in the minds of the reading public. Were facts only published, this committee would have very little reason to object to the presence of the reporter.

Again, our old by-laws distinctly specify that the reporters shall be those of Dem-ocratic newspapers. Can it be truthfully said that all the daily papers of this city are Democratic? It is certainly the boast of some of them that they are inboast of some of them that they are Independent. Certainly newspapers which vaunt their freedom from party ties, welcome the formation of a strong opesition party, advocated he abolition of the primary, robel at the party pledge, impute dishonest and fraudulent practices and unfair methods to the party managers and encourage independents to oppose regular nominees of the purty, do not exhibit a very jealous regard for the interests or integrity of the party we represent.

the interests or integrity of the party we represent.

It is very doubtful whether, by a strict application of our by-laws, and applying the test of well-recognized standards of Democracy, some of our papers could be represented at our meetings.

The tendency upon the part of some of the representatives of the press by sensational articles, to create and foster factional fights in the committee, and endeavoying to influence the committee to carry into effect the individual views of the particular reporter, has had a harmful effect.

The members of this committee are, by reason of their position, far better able to know and to judge of what is for the best interests of its Democratic constituents than a space-filling reporter who, simply because he can push a pencil and has the daily press for his mouthplee, presumes to advise its members as to their duty. Fearful of criticism, and mistaking the sounding brass for the voice of the people, some of us may unconsciously be prevented from bringing to questions of moment, a free and untrammeled consideration of their merits.

Certainly it should not be used to vent personal animosities.
